MORE FACTS TOUCHING OUTRAGE-OUS DISCRIMINATIONS.

What the Dawn of the New Day Will Witness, and Why, and the New Opportunities It Will Afford.

Editorial references have been made by ns quite frequently of late to the disastrons results which the Missouri river basing line rule has occasioned the commercial and manufacturing interests of Wichita, in which connection we have quoted the findings of the interstate commission as embodied in their late complaint filed by Mr. Ady in the United States circuit court, as we have also cited some figures found in the brief of George L. Douglass, Esq., and City Attorney Myatt, in a still later case being brought by this city before the state railway commission.

In this article we shall cite some additional outrages, but before doing so we will state a fact touching the attitude of the managements of the Kansas rail-The proprietors reserve the right to reject and the proprietors and advertisement contracted for inthe ty themselves or their agents.

COUNTY S situated in the midst of the greatest farming region, pays from one hundred and fifty per cent to three hundred per cent higher freight rate per ton per mile, than is charged FortScott and the mining towns of eastern Kansas, Now while the state commission cannot reach the interstate haul, they can at least give Wichita a pro ate from Fort Scott, Baxter Springs, et. commission will order in a reasonable rate point is Fort Scott; and, pursuing the railroad argument that the short line makes the rate, we respectfully suggest from Fort Scott, which no one can have any right to complain of, and then adjust the rate from Kansas City on that basis,

Another point in the brief referred to, that of coal. Wichita ships about $9,000 tons a year. The great bulk of this coal comes from Cherokee and Crawford counties and points in that vicinity just either case produce the same magnetic across the Missourl line, but from which the freight rates are the same. The rates from points in Cherokee and Crawford William Justice, Chicago, is a guestat counties to Wichita, an average distanceof about 190 miles, is $1.60 perton. To Kansas an immense dynamo. The earth turns drowned yesterday afternoon, while swim. City and Argentine the rate is 70 cents per ton. Upon shipments westward the rate is nearly, if not quite, double the rate per ton per mile what is charged on shipments northward. Now as to lumber, and without which palace to pig pen it is everywhere essen- | poles tial. The rate on lumber from the Miscouri river to Wichita is 15 cents a hundred. The schedule rates for lumber show that the railroads take a carload of lumber in Louisiana, haul it northward through Arkansas, the Indian Territory and Kansas, to Lincoln, Omaha, Crete and other points in Nebraska, a distance of 1,000 miles, for 22 cents a hundred. They take a carload of lumber in Louislana, haul it through Arkansas, the Indian Territory, Kansas beforced west. Now it makes no differand Colorado, as far as Denver, a ence whether the sun or the earth does the distance of 1,400 miles, for 20 cents a bundred. They baul this lumber on its way to Nebraska points, through Yates Center, within ninety-eight miles of Wichita; were issued a marriage license yesterday. and they charge the Wichita dealer 271; cents a hundred to leave it at Wichita, while they carry it nearly 300 miles further into Nebraska and charge the Nebraska man but 22 cents a hundred for the entire haul. This lumber is hauled from Louisiana to Nebraska at approximately 4 4-10 mills per ton per mile. It is hauled from Louisiana to Denver at the rate 4 1-10 mills per ton per mile. When the companies come to fix a rate from the Mis souri river to Wichita, they fix it at 15 cents a hundred or 14 mills per ton per mile. Wichita and the surrounding country consume large quantities of lumber every year. The tonuage is enormous, very little other building material being used These facts are admitted, and yet the companies insist that a rate from the Missouri river to Wichita is reasonable which is three and a half times per tou per mile what they are willing to haul.

WHEN WICHITA WILL WIN souri river to Wichita would immediately force a readjustment of the rate on south ern lumber to Wichita, by virtue of the competition which would ensue between northern lumber and southern lumber, and would result in cheaper lumber of all kinds in central Kansas.

While the foregoing discriminations are merely minor, compared to those that the EAGLE has heretofore from time to time set out, and which find their excuse in the robbery known as the Missouri river basing line, through a consciousless traffic association, still even these affect the welfare of entire central and western Kansas, as it has burthened its principal commercial city almost beyond endurance.

But, in the throes of the universal liquidation that is now squeezing every material interest of the country, frauds and swindles of every character will be punctured, ripped up and demolished, and the sound and the substantial will be correspondingly strengthened. Discrimination and favoritism, having no foundation in equity, will go down, and fair dealing, based on justice and truth, will triumph. The dawning of the coming day and its new order of things will be the brightest of any yet ever witnessed by Wichita. The every industries and enterises. The very interests and all the advantages which gave Wichita her phenomenal growth and development, were all crippled and many of them destroyed by the discriminations which the interstate law only made possible by its destruction of competition and the creation of traffic associations possible.

But the end of the evil day draws to a close and its hour of reckoning holds only bright promise for a city which has weathered more adverse storms than any town of the west. The strip will open withn a month followed by settlement of from one hundred to two hundred thousand people. With equitable and just freight rates not only will every Wichita enterprise awaken with renewed life and on a grander scale, but new wholesale mercantile establishments and other commercial and manufacturing interests will be added by the score. The grain and live stock markets will come to mands of her surrounding country, naturally tributary, and she will spring into all that is comprehended by the words

THE POSITION OF THE POLE

Mr. Hurbert Child of this city, who is has been giving a good deal of attention lately to the mission of Colonel Gilder to following solution of the problem which

"In a late eastern paper I read that particular pole is not stationary, as a re spectable pole should be? That these particular pole is not stationary, as a respectable pole should be? That these spectable pole should be? That these questions may be definitely answered, colonel W. H. But as Mr. Douglas sets out, the act I have no doubt that at some future shortest line to Wichita from any low rate time yet unthought of little Gilders shall rise up and call me blessed

And now for the Pole: Farraday, I think was, that made the discovery that by winding a wire round a piece of iron and that the commission should make Wichita then sending a current of electricity an implement rate based upon the mileage | through the wire, an induced or magnetic current would be started and at a right angle to the electric current. Now, Professor Farraday would have found out, the iron in the wire would in angle to the electric current. Now, Procurrent through the wire would in result. This simple fact should not be forgotten. Now I wish you to think of the wire, iron and induced or magnetic current that is always started at a rightangle to the electric. Think of the sun as toward the east, while the sun is putting an electric spiral, so to speak, about the earth through which it is sending a contingous current of electricity. Now what is the result? Simply, as in the case of the iron, an induced current is started that flows at right angles to the electric giving nothing can be done on the prairies, from to the earth as to the iron, magnatic

To understand properly what I am about to explain: Take a piece of make on it one spot to repreent the sun and another the earth, Now draw a line to connect the earth and sun and at a right angle to this line draw another to represent the induced or magnetic current; this line is really the magnetic pote. Now suppose we move the sun the north (do not forget the ngle) what would be the result? Why the pole would be moved eastward. Should the sun move south the nole would moving, the result must be the same.

The young friends of Miss Bertha Hutchison assembled at the country residence of her father, Colonel W. E. Hutchison near Kechi to celebrate her twelfth birth day Tuesday. DROWNED IN BLM CREEK.

A young man named Staffen was ming across the mouth of Elm creek, where it empties into the Ninnescah, near by Huntley. Zyba on the Rock Island. He was a farm laborer and has been working for Charles Conner. Yesterday afternoon, the young man, accompanied by Mr. Conner and his boys went to the mouth of Elm creek on a fishing expedition and carried with them some kind of net or seine to stretch across the river, in which to catch fish. The water at that place is about ten feet deep, and young Staffen being a good swimmer volunteered to swim across and stretch the rope. When about half way scross be gave two calls for help in rapid succession and suddenly sank out of sight. Every effort was made to rescue him, but life was extinct when his body was taken from the water. His purents live in county C. O. ROBBED THE CHURCH.

Some time ago the United Brethren church of Salem township purchased three finely upholstered chairs for their minister and descens to sit ou. They were beautiful chairs with high backs and the wood work was carved bandsomely. During the latter half of the week, some night some scoundrels broke into the church, stole the chairs and evidently have them sold by this time. Gill Price was in the city yesterday hunting for the chairs, thinking they may have been sold in this city, but at last accounts he had not found m. This theft being mentioned, it re called the fact that a short time ago thieves broke into a church near Oxford and stole the organ. There is no possible sympathy for scoundrels who would break into church in this enlightened and religious state and steal church property. They should be punished to the full extent of the law at least, if caught.

Washington. So says a former Wichita resident of the capital in a letter to a friend in this city. The judge's dignified manner, his extreme courtesy and the capital in the capital in a letter to a celed. manner, his extreme courtesy and that hearty shake hands for which he is noted, make him very popular in treasury circies. He is not only a man of great affability, but a man of brains as well and he is pronounced one of the most valuable lieutenants the Carlisle' in the treasury department. The gentlemen concludes by saying that Judge Shields will probably spend the remainder of his days in Washington, as he is admirably suited to po-litical infe and has a taste for it. He always remembers his Wichita friends and never fails to do them a good turn if it is within his power. He takes the EAGLE regularly and devours its contents every morning, and by that means keeps posted in not only the news, but the politics of Kansas. The judge's many friends are glad to bear that he is getting along so nicely.

On Tuesday evening, Aug. 1, at 214 North Emporia avenue, was the occasion of a quiet but most enjoyable wedding, at which time Miss Mary U. Walker and Mr. William K. Cone were united in marriage by the Rev. Martindale. Both the bride cles in the city.

WICHITA MUSICAL CLUB.

The ladies are working hard on their representation for the world's fair. Mrs. Garst has charge of the concert program to be given in festival hall, world's fair grounds, on the afternoon of Sept. 13, at which time the club will sing three numhers. On the morning of the 15th they give two numbers as a prejude to Miss Boyd's address, and will also join Tomlin's grand chorus in Rossini's "Charity, Between thirty and thirty-five ladies of the club are practicing. They will leave about Sept. 8. The Wichita people at Chicago will be

THE KANSAS HUMANE SOCIETY. o the Editor of the Eagle.

For the first time in the fifth year of its history, the Humane society of this city has published an annual, containing, its constitution and by-laws, also state laws for the protection of children and animals the control of the destitute and friendless, together with interesting reports of its president, secretary, treasurer, etc., and a int of the membership.

It is an interesting document, and should be read by all who are interested in that which it proposes to do. The pamphlet, however, does not show near all the work that has been done. For instance, no statement is given of the amount of funds furnished by the county commissioners, and distributed by the charities secretary of the society. This amount averaged about $400 per month during the winter months. On the face of the expenditures

Wednesday evening Miss Baldeck of fairmount gave a party in honor of Miss Hattie Parker of Kingfisher. Those who constituted the party are as follows: Misses Maud Bowman, Eva Hawiey, Cora Bowman, Mary Curwin, Katle Sampson, Nina Carwin, Lillie Lemon, Lottio Ellis, Sadie Ellis, Daisy Sulfivan, Clara Sullian, Rose Westgate, Mary Wilson, Pearl Myers and Katie Ellis; Messrs, Hal Fineli, George Westgate, James Crossman, Earnest Craner, Hurbert Steels, Dick Myers, Praigg Van Arsdale, T. J. Van Arsdale, Charlie Denham, Ora Stallings, Anson Rutan, Lon Van Ness, Harry West and

Misses Blanche Guthrie, Mary Barwise, Mamie McClung, Mary Garver, Orpha Buck, Abbie Potts, McCrae, Helen Carpenter, Maggie Woody and Anna Hurr ormed a merry party who enjoyed the hospitality of Miss Ola Kinkead Thursday afternoon at her home on North Lawrence avenue. Miss Abbie Potts and Miss Mary Barwise gave interesting and lively de-months. On the face of the expenditures, as given in the treasurer's report, it looks as if the secretary of the charities committee had received a large part of the funds which passed through the treasurer's hands. It should be stated that the services of the secretary were invaluable to the society, requiring fully half his time, and that of his horse, in attending to his work, for which he received only $15 per month, and a part of the time only $10, out of over $400 per month distributed in provisions and other necessities.

As the undersigned will move to Kanass City in September, he regrets exceedingly to withdraw from active work in the society, but succeedy hopes the good people of Wichita will continue to aid this, one of the best charity institutions.
